

Faces at Home

As Memorial Day approaches, we should all remember the veterans who sacrificed for our freedom. In the face of adversity, they gave everything they had and asked for little in return. Many of those brave and selfless veterans are now seniors and/or are living with a disability.

They deserve their own freedom: the ability to receive care at home and remain a part of their communities.

Homecare providers struggle to meet the needs of Pennsylvania's veterans. A Medicaid rate increase for homecare would allow these agencies to offer competitive wages and retain the top caregivers to provide services to our veterans in their homes.

From World War II to the Gulf War, an increasing number of veterans want – and deserve – the independence of receiving care at home. Let us all thank a veteran by supporting the services they need.
